Gerald Moss charged

PRIVATE ARSENAL: Weapons displayed by Madison police allegedly were confiscated Saturday from employees of the Madison City Development Corp.

By Andy Sterling
Staff writer

MADISON — A gun-toting man who said he is "the biggest taxpayer in Madison" is to be arrested with two other men.

Warrants issued Monday charge the three in connection with an incident involving firearms Saturday at the Madison City Development Corp. apartments, Market Street and Washington Avenue.

Charged are Gerald G. Moss, 65, of 1639 Sixth St., John H. Covalesky, 25, of 1634 Fifth St., and William J. Dawson, 17, of Troy, Ill. The men were questioned and released Saturday afternoon, pending further investigation.

City's pit bull law discussed

GRANITE CITY — Opponents of an ordinance that places restrictions on pit bull owners have entered the pit with the City Council.

At a special meeting of the council Tuesday, the Metropolitan Coalition for Responsible Dog Legislation gave the council copies of less restrictive vicious dog ordinances from other municipalities.

"We think a good, general ordinance would be the best way to go," said Ledy Vankavage, the group's attorney.

Aldermen said they would reconsider their law before putting it into effect. The law was approved unanimously June 28, and was scheduled to go into effect Monday, July 25.

Vankavage said she favored a Washington, D.C. law under which individual hearings are held to determine if dogs are vicious.

"The dog gets its day in court, or at least the owner does," she said.

Others at the meeting said the district should not enact new laws if it cannot enforce its old ones.

"You guys are making new laws, but you're not even enforcing the old ones because of a lack of funds," said Dan Churovich, a Granite City pit bull owner.

Churovich said the council should hire a full-time humane officer to enforce existing animal control laws. He said license fees could be raised to pay the officer's salary.

After listening to six opponents of the new law, Alderman Casner Skubish told the group to write down specific requests for changes in the law and submit them to the city clerk for later consideration.

Few sparks at debate

By Mike Leathers

COLLINSVILLE — There were few sparks flying during Tuesday night's debate between the two congressional candidates seeking to fill the remainder of the term left vacant by the death of U.S. Rep. Mel Price.

The debate, sponsored by three area chapters of the League of Women Voters, drew an estimated 250 to 300 people to the Collinsville Holiday Inn. Democrat Jerry Costello and Republican Robert Gaffner will face each other in a special election on Aug. 9 as well as in the Nov. 8 general election.

Both candidates took identical positions on most of the questions put to them, although Gaffner questioned Costello's record on creating jobs in St. Clair County during his eight-year tenure as county board chairman.

Costello said he has a proven record of bringing government and business together to create more jobs for the region. He would continue that practice as congressman for the 21st District, he said.

But Gaffner said St. Clair County's unemployment rate of 10.1 percent is higher than the rest of the nation, and the only jobs that have been created are through the Job Training Partnership Act, a federal program.

Both candidates favored a

Thompson opens 255, says it's not enough

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — With the help of a front-end loader, Gov. Jim Thompson said he opened Interstate 255, the final Illinois stretch in the original interstate highway plan.

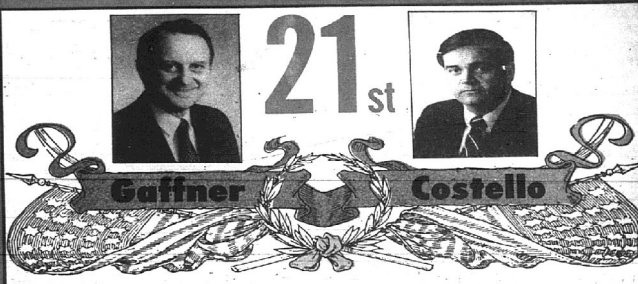

Thompson said it was a rare time that a governor could begin a highway and still be in office to see it completed. Construction began in 1977.

"I'm often asked about the reasons I ran for governor four times. Well, this highway is one of them," Thompson said. "I may have to run again to get the repairs and connecting roads needed now."

Highways and education, Thompson said, are foundations that are necessary in order to provide a bright future for the state.

Thompson said I-255 completed a continuous highway around the metropolitan St. Louis area and that, as the Mississippi River had before, the highway should link the region. Along with I-270, it forms a circle around the bi-state area.

The Issues	Gaffner	Costello
Would you vote at this time to maintain SDI funding at any level?	YES. It works as a bargaining chip with the Soviets and it is a workable system.	YES. But he would do so at a low level to keep military spending down.
Would you vote at this time to provide military aid to the Contras?	YES. The pro-Marxist Sandinistas are a threat to the United States.	NO. "The Contras have been ineffective in Central America." He favors diplomacy.
Would you vote for our Persian Gulf policy if hostilities continue?	YES. However, he favors Allied support for the military costs we incur.	YES. Shipping lanes should be kept open, but "Allies should defray costs."
Would you vote to maintain military spending at the current level?	YES. He said a line-item veto would make it easier for the president to make cuts.	UNSURE. "There's obviously a lot of waste." He would not cut military pay.
Would you vote to increase the minimum wage for American workers?	NO. He said it would hurt small businesses, and not greatly help the poor.	YES. He said it will make working more attractive to the nation's poor.
Would you vote to give workers a 60-day notice before a plant closes?	NO. He said it infringes on the rights of business to govern themselves.	YES. "It's the decent thing to do." He said people should have time to adjust.
Would you vote to raise taxes at the request of the president or your party?	NO. "I would not support any kind of tax increase at the federal level."	UNSURE. He said it depends on the type of tax, and the rich should pay more.
Would you vote to increase the level of funding for education?	YES. He said states need to pick up more of the cost of education.	YES. He said better spending of tax dollars overall makes it possible.
Would you vote to give working women tax breaks to cover child care?	YES. "Child care is a major issue." He said some hospitals could start centers.	YES. The government should give incentives to help people who want to work.
Would you vote to give voters recall rights on elected federal officials?	YES. He said the people could govern ethics more directly through recall.	UNSURE. He said it is an issue on which he has not formulated an opinion.

DIFFERENCES: During separate meetings at the Granite City Press-Record on Wednesday, 21st District Congressional candidates Jerry Costello, D-Belleville, and Robert Gaffner, R-Greenville, discussed issues each would face if elected. Though mostly similarities between the two men came up at a debate Tuesday in Collinsville, the men do not agree on everything. Details on the discussion will appear in Sunday's issue.

Weber drops one race to run another

'I like Bill Haine and I think he'll do a good job. I'm not leaving people in the lurch.'

— Don Weber

don't plan to at all. Not knowing Weber's intentions, I'm at a loss to answer."

Named an associate judge in August 1985, Riley was appointed as a circuit judge in December 1986 by the Illinois Supreme Court to fill a vacant position.

Weber was elected state's attorney in 1980; in 1984, he was defeated by current State's Attorney Dick Allen. Allen was defeated in the March 1988 primary by Bill Haine.

Allen charged during the primary campaign that Weber would withdraw if Haine gained the Democratic nomination. On Wednesday, Allen said he was not surprised at Weber's withdrawal, calling it the "proof in the pudding."

Allen said he expects that "after Weber loses to Riley" for circuit judge, Haine will offer Weber a job in the state's attorney's office.

Belief that Haine would make a good state's attorney, Weber said Monday, is one reason for his decision to drop out of the race.

"I like Bill Haine and I think he'll do a good job. I'm not leaving people in the lurch," Weber said.

ing people in the lurch," Weber said.

Weber also said an indefinite delay in his libel suit against Amiel Cueto, a Belleville lawyer, based on allegations said to have been made by Cueto against Weber while Weber was state's attorney, would push the suit past the November election and could have clouded his candidacy.

Haine said he was "pleased for my own sake" with Weber's decision. He denied the withdrawal was part of any deal.

Madison County Republican Chairman Tom Long said the party could nominate, by caucus, a candidate to replace Weber, but that it would depend on a strong candidate coming forward.

"We won't put up a candidate just to be doing it," Long said.

Gaffner gets boost from Crane

Republican congressional candidate Bob Gaffner got a boost from U.S. Rep. Phil Crane at a fund-raising dinner July 21 in Alton.

Crane, a 1980 presidential candidate, told several hundred GOP supporters at the Ramada Inn that the U.S. House needs more Republicans to offset Democratic Speaker Jim Wright of Texas.

Crane, R-12th District, attacked Wright's leadership, accusing him of violating U.S. House rules and ethics.

He told the crowd, which included conservative activist Phyllis Schlafly, a story about Wright's role in a recent U.S. House vote for a tax increase. The tax legislation came down to a single vote in favor of the Republicans, he said.

After the vote, Wright continued to hold the legislators in the House chamber, Crane said. Refusing to accept defeat, Crane said, Wright ordered a Texas congressman to change his vote.

"You could see that he was seething with rage," Crane said. "He got up, rapped the gavel and announced that the measure had been defeated."

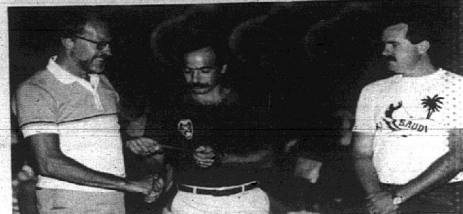

"But it wasn't all over. All of a sudden there was a commotion going on the Democratic side, and being pulled by his arm down the aisle was a freshman Democrat from Texas—dragged by one of Jim Wright's staff people. Literally dragging him down into the well to change his vote."

Crane called Wright the most powerful politician in the world, saying the U.S. House controls government taxing and spending. Gaffner, 35, Greenville, is opposing Democrat Jerry Costello, 38, Belleville, in a special congressional election Aug. 9. Illinois law required the special election after the death of 22-term Democratic incumbent Mel Price of East St. Louis on April 22. Price, 83, had represented the 21st District since 1945. The district includes all of Madison and parts of St. Clair, Montgomery, Bond and Clinton counties.

Gaffner and Costello also plan to run for the open seat in November.

Gaffner said support for education, industrial revitalization and strict laws against drug trafficking are key campaign issues.

Fire fighters donate $1,000 to band

Community generosity was shown in a big way when the Granite City Fire Fighters presented a donation of $1,000 to the Marching Warriors Parents Association.

The money was given in support of the purchase of new uniforms for the entire band. The Marching Warriors Parents Association is attempting to raise as much as $10,000 toward the purchase of the new uniforms to help defray the estimated $40,000 cost.

Anyone wanting to contribute may send donations to "The Marching Warriors Uniform Fund," American Heritage Bank, P.O. Box X, Granite City 62040.

Contributions are tax deductible.

Bricklayers, other supporters help OATH expansion dream come true

By John J. Jaklich
Building Inspector,
Granite City

If you happen to be driving through Madison on State Street, take time to look over the complex between 6th and 7th streets. For the past 15 years it has been occupied, in part, by the Organization for the Advancement of The Handicapped Inc. known to its adult and juvenile clients, parents and guardians, community supporters and friends as OATH.

The main building was built as a gambling casino in the early 1920s and many Madison old-timers still call it the Mystery House.

Through the years, ownership changed many times until, in the 1970s, the charter members of OATH purchased it with the help and encouragement of local civic and business members.

Using volunteer help and the financial assistance of many owners, the main building was renovated inside and out. It was used to house workshop production stations and a life skills training center.

Several years later, OATH purchased a former family-owned bakery turned furniture storage area. The small brick building, on the 6th Street side of a block, was renovated with volunteer help and opened as a commercial laundry.

OATH clients, under supervision of a paid staff member, perform the various duties of sorting, washing, drying, folding, and bundling the apparel and linens from industries with which OATH has service agreements.

Alleviation of the crowded conditions in the laundry has been a longtime dream of OATH. Using the limited funds available, a foundation for a 400-sq-ft extension was poured in the summer of 1987. Again using mainly volunteer help, a wooden frame and roof were built.

A drive to solicit funds from charitable foundations and employee-contribution organizations in the area began and donations started to trickle in.

A major break came when a St. Louis company agreed to donate a portion of the construction cost of the addition's outer shell. There was one stipulation, however: OATH had to come up with an in-kind contribution.

First, a Madison businessman agreed to underwrite the purchase of bricks. Then, the men of Bricklayers Local 65 and Edvard B. Jacobs, its business manager, came up with a big portion of the required in-kind contribution.

Finally, a crew of volunteer bricklayers from Local 65, headed by Jacobs, spent three of their off-duty Saturdays to lay the bricks.

The crew, some of whom live locally and others from as far as Staunton and Litchfield, brought along scaffolding, mixers and other equipment. Many of them came right from the night shift at Granite City Steel.

With assistance from many OATH families, directors and friends, the additions went together.

The members of Local 65 were Mike Weiss, Jeff Worthen, Bob White, Don Aussergren, Ted Elizondo, Steve Thyer, Bob Townsend, Bill Murphy, Ray Roberts, Chuck Frey and Terry Metz.

They were assisted by Dave Beecher, John Jaklich, Henry Heilrich, Lester Kynion, Jim Matherek, Larry Willoughby, Mike Jaklich, Milton Morris and Bob Mikovich.

So if you drive by, see if the pride of the OATH clients and staff members, of the volunteers and many generous contributors, shows in the latest addition of the expanding complex. And remember that it represents the growing capacity of the clients to live lives as independently as their capacities permit.

Parents urged to check vaccination requirements before school begins

Families have pencils, pens, notebooks and folders on their back-to-school shopping list, but do they have vaccinations?

"Children may require certain vaccinations in order to attend school. It is important to check now, as the doctors' offices will get busier and busier as the beginning of school approaches."

"I would advise parents to check on their children's immunizations immediately, if they haven't already done so," said Jackie Haug, pediatric nurse practitioner and director of the Immunization Clinic at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

"Children who do not have the proper vaccinations are excluded from the classroom by state law. We don't like to have to keep students out. We are here to educate, but we have to follow state law," said Tom Holloway, health officer for the Granite City schools.

Physical examinations are required for students entering kindergarten and grades five and nine. Students in other grades may require vaccinations, depending on their age.

"It is best to check with your doctor. They keep up on state laws and can tell you what your child needs," Holloway said. Although many formerly common childhood illnesses, such as measles and mumps, are now rare, it is still necessary for all children to be immunized against these and other diseases.

'Children without vaccinations are excluded from the classroom.'

Those who think their child has missed any of these vaccinations are asked to contact their doctor. The American Academy of Pediatrics recommends that children get the following shots:

- Two months — diphtheria/tetanus/pertussis (DTP), oral poliovirus vaccine (OPV).
- Four months — DTP; OPV (optional).
- Six months — DTP; OPV (optional).
- 15 months — measles/mumps/rubella; tuberculin test.

- 18 months — DTP; OPV.
- 24 months — H. influenza b. (against meningitis, epiglottitis, and others).

- Four to six years — DTP; OPV.

•14-16 years — Adult tetanus and diphtheria booster, to be repeated every 10 years for life. St. Elizabeth Medical Center offers a free immunization clinic on the first Saturday of each month for low-income families. Each must be referred by a school nurse or a doctor, or have a green card. The clinic operates from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. on a first come, first served basis. The immunizations are given in Pascal Hall on the ground floor of the medical center.

On the first and third Wednesday of each month, physicals are given in Pascal Hall from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. The same referrals are needed to qualify.

A spokesman said, "If you have any questions, call your doctor, or St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 798-3000."

Low-vision workshop set

Radio Information Service at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows will sponsor a Low Vision Workshop on Thursday, Aug. 4, from 9:45 to 11:30 a.m. in the Dr. Tom Dooley Center, 9500 W. Illinois 15, Belleville.

The general topic for the day is "How to cope with loss of spouse and loss of sight." Special guests will be Pat Downs and Irma Nagle.

The workshop is designed to help those who have partial sight.

Coast Guard asks boaters' help in reporting accidents

The U.S. Coast Guard is asking recreational boaters for suggestions on how to make it easier for boaters to report non-fatal accidents.

Only about 10 percent of non-fatal accidents are now reported, the Coast Guard estimates.

Regulations require boaters to report an accident if a person is killed, is injured and requires medical treatment beyond first aid, or disappears from a boat under circumstances that indicate death or injury.

Reports also are required if damage to the vessel or other property totals more than $200 or the vessel is a complete loss.

The Coast Guard believes that all fatal accidents are being reported, but would like to get boaters' views on why so few non-fatal accidents are reported.

It especially wants to know if boaters are familiar with reporting requirements, whether they are being prevented or discouraged from reporting, and what they think should be done to correct such situations.

A spokesman said the reports are important because analysis of accidents can reveal safety problems in terms of boat design or operator error.

Also, better accident reporting can help the Coast Guard improve boating standards and guide boating safety education programs.

The Coast Guard also wants boaters' comments on its proposal to raise the reporting threshold to $400. The full text of the proposal is in the April 25 issue of the Federal Register.

Free copies can be obtained from the Coast Guard's toll-free boating safety hotline, 800-368-5647.

Written comments may be sent to: Commandant (G-CMC/21)(CG82-015), Coast Guard, 2100 Second St., S.W., Washington, D.C. 20599-0001.

FEET FIRST

LASTING IMPRESSIONS

By Dr. Claude Hiles

A preliminary podiatric exam can be as easy as a day at the beach. That is, a barefooted beachcomber can cast an amateur eye at her footprints in the sand. If a footprint gives the impression that the arch is all but nonexistent, the feet may be overly pronated, meaning the ankles and arches are falling inward. If, however, the impression leaves only a thin border connecting the ball of the foot with the heel, the feet may be overly supinated. This means that the soles of the feet tend to face each other. Corrective orthotics may well relieve the stress that supination and pronation place on higher-placed joints of the body.

Don't wait for foot pain to develop before seeing a podiatrist. Periodic foot exams play an important part in preventive care. Contact my office, located at 1930 State St., for comprehensive podiatric care. In-house surgery, is performed. Bone and joint problems, such as arch disorders and arthritis, are treated. Preventive care is emphasized. BC/BS, John Hancock and Medicare accepted. Hours by appointment. For further inquiries on today's column, tel. 877-6025.

UNLIKE THE MOVIES, WHEN YOU HIT A POWER LINE, THE SHOW'S OVER.

In the movies, the monster doesn't let anything stop him. Not even a few power lines. But in the real world, a power line will stop any body. So before you do any work outside, remember that a metal ladder, a TV antenna, and even a tree trimmer can conduct electricity. And don't forget to keep the kids away from utility poles, electric substations, and trees near power lines. Because we'd hate to see anyone get into trouble with a power line. Unless, of course, it's in the movies.

Philippians 4:13 "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

The above Scripture is one of the most powerful statements in the Bible. It means just what it says. The problem is, so many times we find ourselves struggling just to do one thing, let alone all things.

Here's how to make this Scripture come alive for you. Don't be discouraged because you're not on top of everything. Don't believe for one minute that Christ has forsaken you. Through Him you can do all things.

Turn the Scripture around. Yes, it's right. So that is says, "Christ strengtheneth me!" Repeat it over a few times. Say it out loud. Christ strengtheneth me. With His strength in me, I can do all things! That's right. Christ is my strength, so I can do all things. Now that you know it, put it to use.

Do something for Him. Today!

on guns arrested

Moss and warrant applications. The warrants were issued Monday afternoon by Associate Judge Edward C. Ferguson. Police expected the men to turn themselves in today. The warrants charged Moss and Covalesky with intimidation and all with unlawful use of a weapon. Intimidation is a felony and the latter charge is a misdemeanor. Dawson was also charged with possession of a firearm without proper state certification. Police allege the men used the threat represented by the weapons to repossess appliances from an apartment rented by Vanessa Williams, 31, a resident of the Madison City Development apartments. The development contains 36 units comprising 69 apartments. The units were fashioned by joining two railroad cars together. The site is across from the Madison County Housing Authority's Grenzer Homes. Williams told police that five men carrying handguns and with two German shepherds on leashes showed up at about 12:30 p.m. Saturday and began removing a refrigerator and an air conditioner from the apartment. She said Gerald Moss arrived a little later wearing a bandage in a holster and carrying a baseball bat. After removing the appliances, the men boarded the windows, according to Williams' statement, to police, and Moss told her he was not exiting her but that if she continued to reside in the apartment it would be with the Williams boarded up. Williams said a few minutes later her husband, Harvey R. Williams, arrived and began removing the boards from the windows. Moss and the other men allegedly returned and an argument began, whereupon Williams went to the Madison Police Station to lodge a complaint.

When he got there, police discovered a warrant for failure to appear in court on a count of battery stemming from a complaint filed by Vanessa Williams. Police arrested Harvey Williams.

According to the police report, Moss left the apartment complex and returned a short time later with two rifles in a holster, an AR-15, a 357 magnum and a .223 rifle. Moss told her (Harvey Williams') head off. Police later saw Dawson walking down Market Street wearing a 357 magnum in a holster, an officer said; Dawson was arrested. Shortly afterward Moss and Covalesky drove up and stopped, police said; a patrolman went over to the van Moss was driving and reportedly saw a 357 magnum on Moss' person and two rifles (an AR-15 .223 with a bayonet and a .223 with a M-1 carbine). All the confiscated weapons were loaded with live ammunition, it was contended. Moss, Covalesky and Dawson were arrested and later released pending warrant applications. While being detained, police alleged, Moss interrupted Covalesky when he had the right to carry weapons to protect his property.

Covalesky said Tuesday that Vanessa Williams had agreed to move out by Wednesday night. The Press-Record contacted Moss to get his version of the incident and was invited to the rental offices of the apartment complex to talk to Moss, Covalesky and Dawson.

Covalesky said he is the president of Madison City Development Corp. and Moss said he is a "stockholder" who does "consulting work" for the corporation. Moss said he takes orders from Covalesky, but on at least four occasions during the interview, Moss interrupted Covalesky, who referred to him as "Mr. Moss." Covalesky showed no hesitation in completing the interview. Moss told him to "turn on the air conditioner, John." Covalesky said Moss, Gerald Moss' brother.

The corporation rents appliances from a second company, East Side Truck and Trailer Repair Corp., whose president is Nora Lee Moss, the wife of Gerald Moss. The three men were at Williams' apartment to take out the appliances. Williams was being evicted over $225, although the eviction proceedings had not been completed. The rent for one month on a one-bedroom apartment with no utilities is $225. Moss and Covalesky alleged Harvey Williams and two other men had been on the street and that only then did Moss get weapons for self-defense.

The police said Dawson, when stopped on the street by police, had said Moss ordered him to wear the 357 magnum he was found carrying, loaded with live hollow-point rounds. Moss denied the statement. Covalesky said he was the one who gave the gun to Dawson.

Moss and Covalesky said they regularly stop suspicious people and question them because, as Covalesky alleged, "We get no police protection down here." Gerald Moss, a native of Madison, said he pioneered refrigerated trucking across the Rockies after World War II, delivering meat to California and produce to the Midwest. Moss at one time operated the Plantation, a barn dinner theater in St. Louis county.

Moss said he regularly takes vandals and burglars to police, who he alleges refuse to arrest them. Asked how he persuades those individuals to come along, he said, "I consult with them."

He added, "Why don't you talk to some of these women around here who live in terror of these young hoodlums?"

Moss described the neighborhood as "like in the ravine" and said he has had unsatisfactory response from police for years.

He said his aggressive approach is necessary to keep order in the apartment complex. "I put a bayonet on that M-15 and put on a bullet-proof vest, and I'm the boss over there at night," Moss said.

Moss said this is not the first time he has carried firearms. He said some years ago he surprised a burglar in the act of robbing a trucking company he owned in Madison. When the burglar pointed a gun at him, Moss said, he drew his own gun and chased the burglar, shooting up the burglar's car in the process.

Moss said that in August 1982 he and the police chief at that time, Don Bridick, brother of Chief Charlie Bridick, had a confrontation when Don Bridick entered Moss' home after an altercation between Moss and a private detective conducting surveillance on the house. Charlie Bridick, then a sergeant, was one of the officers assigned to the case.

Charges, including unlawful restraint and aggravated assault, were later dropped by the state's attorney's office. "I'm a man who has always worked for what I got," Moss said. "I've never been at the public trough."

Two aldermen defended Moss. Alderman Ron Grzywacz, 282d, "Here's a man (Moss) who is trying to build a multi-million dollar project. He's trying to help the city, not hurt it. If it was anybody else, what happened Saturday wouldn't have happened," he said.

"There have been 150 burglaries in Madison in the last few months, and the police can't catch one of them," Grzywacz, a former policeman, continued heatedly. "They'd rather pick on this man, and he is not a bum."

Chief Charlie Bridick said, "Every burglary that has been reported to us is on the police reports." Bridick and Lt. Paul Bargiel said there have been 173 burglaries so far this year, eight suspects have been convicted (most on multiple counts) and six more are currently facing trial.

As for allegations about police not responding to calls from the neighborhood, Bridick said, "Mr. Moss is mistaken."

Alderman Andy Economy said of Moss: "The only thing he's trying to do is protect his interest... and get rid of the riff-raff. If he lets them get away with it this time, they're going to walk all over him. He's got a heck of an interest down there."

Told of the aldermen's comments, Chief Bridick said, "Two aldermen are allegedly defending and condoning that kind of action. These weapons were on a public street, then they have no business being there."

Moss and Covalesky alleged that on Saturday and Sunday after the incident, rowdiness in the neighborhood increased dramatically.

Interstate opened
by Gov. Thompson

Illinois, he said, is presently the transportation hub of the United States.

"If Illinois is to continue as the transportation center and compete in the next century, it's only 12 years away — it's a little more time than it took to complete this highway — then the highway system must be kept up," Thompson said.

"As the unprecedented drought has lowered the Mississippi, the only thing that has saved us... is the ability to move grain and other products from the Port of Chicago by way of our Illinois highway system."

Thompson said the interstate highway system began in the 1950s and was designed to be adequate for 20 years. Some of the system in Illinois is 30 years old, he said, and the majority is at least 20 years old.

Highways, Thompson said, are one among the first things commercial and industrial planners ask about and one of the most important factors in their decision. In addition to getting materials in and products out, Thompson said, they want to make sure workers can easily get to and from work.

"If Illinois is to remain competitive today, tomorrow and into the future then the transportation must stay competitive as well," he said.

The final 5.2-mile section completed a loop around the metropolitan area. Major contractors included Calhoun County Construction, Springfield, in charge of paving the stretch between Illinois 162 and I-270, and Illinois Valley Construction, Jacksonville, which paved a section between I-55/70 and Illinois 162.

The opening ceremony was attended by more than 200 people. Area mayors and legislators shared the platform with the governor.

Jesse Enos, 75, Edwardsville, was pronounced dead at 3:51 p.m. Tuesday, July 26, 1988, at Anderson Hospital, Maryville, of an apparent heart attack. He had worked in the construction business until retiring in 1967 and was a Marine Corps veteran of World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Ann; two daughters; one brother, Michael Enos, Granite City; three sisters, two grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Visitation will be from 4-8 p.m. today at Weber Funeral Home, 304 N. Main St., Edwardsville, where funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Friday. Burial will be in Glen Carbon City Cemetery. Memorials may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Hoy

Charles William Hoy, 77, St. Petersburg, Fla., formerly of Granite City, died Tuesday, July 26, 1988, at Swanholm Nursing Home in St. Petersburg. He had been ill with cancer.

Mr. Hoy was born Jan. 13, 1911, in Granite City and lived here 63 years. He retired in 1974 as an inspector at General Steel Castings with over 49 years of service. He was of the Protestant faith and a member of the Knights of Pythias.

Survivors include his wife, Katharine Hoy; one daughter, Doris Edwards; Granite City; one son, John Hoy, Licking, Mo.; one stepdaughter, Laverne Hoskins, St. Petersburg; two brothers, Clarence Hoy, Granite City, and Abraham Hoy Jr., Maryville; one sister, Edith Wood, Edwardsville; seven grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

No funeral services are planned.

Justin Webster, all of Marietta; his parents, Edward and Phyllis Johnson, Harrison, Tenn., formerly of Granite City; a sister, Deborah Fitzhugh, Harrison; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clement Boushard, Carrollton, Ill.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at Kyker Funeral Chapel in Harrison by the Rev. Otis Ball. Burial was at Willard Park Cemetery, Harrison.

Knipping

Lawrence "Larry" Knipping, 57, 2340 Terminal Ave., died at 9:02 p.m. Tuesday, July 26, 1988, at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. He had been ill seven years and hospitalized since Monday.

Born Jan. 1, 1931, in Alton, Mr. Knipping resided in the Quad City area all his life. He retired from American Steel Foundries, where he worked for 15 years as a machinist.

He was of the Catholic faith and a Marine Corps veteran of the Korean war.

He is survived by his wife, Virginia (Moss) Knipping, Granite City; two sons, Michael Knipping, Louisiana, and Glenn Binkley, U.S. Air Force; four daughters, Mrs. Charles (Kathleen) Higgins, Bethalto, Mrs. Nathan (Susan) Edsel, Brighton, Suelien White, Van Nuys, Calif., and Mrs. Walter (Sandra) Gung, Washington, Mo.; a brother, Carter Knipping, Granite City; and three sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Coy and Neida Vinson, both of Granite City, and Betty Hill, Bethalto.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a.m. Friday at Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave., the Rev. Bill Fisherkeller officiating. Burial will take place at Calvary Cemetery, Edwardsville. Visitation is from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. today at Irwin. Memorials may be sent to the Lupus Foundation.

FAYE COOKSON works on the Sifford family quilt that is also a family tree.

Quilt traces its creator's family tree

By Maxine Duniphan
Staff affiliate

A quilt created by Juanita Sifford of Puxico, Mo., is a combination quilt and family tree. (Many Quad Cities residents have relatives and friends living in the Puxico area.) Sifford said she got the idea for the quilt from an article in a magazine. The quilt measures 90 by 100 inches and contains the names of the 700 members of the Sifford family. The design of the tree took many hours of designing and re-designing to come up with a "workable pattern," Sifford said. "The trunk and the branches had to balance."

"I put the branches on first," she said. She then added the trunk, which contains the names of the family ancestors. The branches bear the names of their off spring. Apples hanging from the branches represent children born to each of these families. The apples are arranged on the branches to represent the chronological order of their birth, those closest to the trunk being the oldest.

The names of husbands and wives were added to each apple, and leaves attached to the apples represent children born to that marriage.

"Family genealogy has become a popular hobby for many people in recent years," Sifford said, adding that much of the research was done by George Wesley Sifford before his death several years ago.

"I had begun to work seriously in late 1987 to finish the genealogy when I came up with the tree design," Sifford said. With the help of Geneva Sif-ford, Fay Cookson and other family members and members of their local church, the quilt was completed in time for the Sifford family reunion to be held July 31.

Sifford and her helpers said the project had been a humorous experience. "There's not a rotten apple on the tree, nor a green one either, but we did put in one with worms," Sifford said. "One man asked that we make his apple grow from a knot on the tree," Sifford said. "We have decided to take donations on chances for it at the family reunion," Juanita said. She said she hopes the quilt will be displayed in one of the store windows on Main Street in downtown Puxico.

The quilt seems certain to become a precious heirloom to future generations of the Sifford family.

Missionary speaks Sunday at New Life

Dr. Norman D. Anderson, missionary coordinator of Assembly of God missions in Mozambique, Angola and other Portuguese-speaking countries in Africa, will speak at New Life Assembly, 2730 Buxton Ave., at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, according to the Rev. Daniel J. Moore.

From 1953 to 1972, Anderson and his wife, Judith, served as missionaries in Brazil. From 1972 to 1983, they worked with the International Correspondence Institute in Brussels, Belgium. Anderson was responsible for curriculum development, and Mrs. Anderson worked with creating art and illustrations for the courses.

The Andersons will next work in Africa, where he will serve as the regional IC director for the Portuguese-speaking areas of Africa.

Anderson's talk will be open to the public.

Good Shepherd sets Aug. 1 Bible school

The Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, 3025 National Ave., will hold a vacation Bible school Aug. 1 through 5.

The school, open to children from nursery school to sixth grade, will be held nightly from 6 to 8.

The theme is: "Jesus, Our Friend and Teacher."

Activities will include crafts, games and refreshments. All area children are invited.

Revival scheduled at Eagle Stone

Eagle-Stone Worship Center, which is temporarily meeting at the Edwardsville Days Inn, Interstate 270 and Illinois 157, will host a revival meeting at 7:30 nightly this Sunday through Wednesday, Aug. 3.

The guest speaker will be radio evangelist Robby Mitchell, Eldorado, Ark.

At 19, Mitchell became a Pentecostal. Shortly afterward, he went into the ministry full time and has preached across the United States for more than four years. Mitchell's radio messages cover 28 states and 13 foreign countries. He also has recorded five singing albums and is a youth camp speaker.

Robby Mitchell

Skeeter Jones, the pastor of Eagle-Stone Worship Center, invites the public all to bring musical instruments and music.

Parade to kick off Bible school week

Vacation Bible school will be conducted at St. John Lutheran Church, 2001 St. Clair Ave., from 9 to 11:30 a.m. daily Aug. 8 through 12.

A parade to publicize the Bible school will take place in the church neighborhood at 9:30 a.m. Aug. 8. Following the parade, balloons will be released and refreshments served in the church's fellowship hall.

The theme will be "Welcome To God's Family!" Materials have been prepared by a staff of Concordia Publishing House, St. Louis. Handicraft projects will be interwoven with the teaching of daily Bible messages. There will be a daily recess when refreshments will be served by church volunteers.

Children ages 3 to 12 (through the sixth grade) are welcome. The closing program will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Aug. 12 and will include an ice cream social. Parents and friends are invited.

The pastors, the Rev. Samuel Boda, will open daily sessions with devotions. Congregational volunteers will serve as teachers.

Faith Baptist hosting conference on Bible

Faith Baptist Church is hosting a Bible conference this week.

Dr. Thomas A. Thomas, professor of theology at Empire State Baptist Seminary, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church and the author of books and articles in Christian periodicals, is speaking each night at 7 through Sunday.

Faith Baptist is at Faith and Myrtle avenues. Call 452-1172 for other details.

Actress performs like tempest in 'Man of La Mancha'

By Frank Hunter
Staff affiliate

The face and form are exquisite, the jet black hair wreathes a countenance far from woeful, and for good reason.

For 12 years theater critics have seasoned their reviews with superlatives, lauding Annette Cardona's incarnation of the kitchen-sit Aldonza in "Man of La Mancha," the Dale Wasserman-Joe Darion musical of impossible dreams in which the actress-singer-dancer dominates the stage with an aura of sensuality and vulnerability.

"Man of La Mancha," starring Cardona and Hal Linden as Cervantes/Don Quixote, starts a week's run Monday (Aug. 1) at The Muni in Forest Park, St. Louis.

Cardona is a tempest set to music, putting her unmistakable stamp on Aldonza. But her stage, screen and television career, which began at age 6, is as broad as it is long.

She credits her father, "Papa Cardona," a shipping foreman for a large Los Angeles manufacturing corporation, for the expensive piano, voice, dance and acting lessons that prepared her for the theater.

"Dad was a self-taught, play-it-all-by-ear pianist, harmonica man and guitarist," she said. "He loved music and show business, knew a lot of film people including Errol Flynn and Anthony Quinn, who was a boyhood friend."

"Papa had a band that played evening dates around Los Angeles but he never could afford to quit the shipping department and settled for giving all his kids music and dance lessons."

It was at John Marshall High School in Los Angeles that Annette Cardona concentrated on acting and fibbed her way into Actors Equity at age 17, one year under the required age. She worked in summer stock for two years, danced in a company of "West Side Story," and later played the leading role of Anita in the show.

Cardona was a theater arts major for two years at Los Angeles City College and now sporadically works toward a master's degree in theater and a bachelor's degree in psychology at UCLA, studies that come in the wake of a recent divorce that ended a 12-year marriage.

"When I'm home in Los Angeles I never have time to sleep because of school. I get a lot more rest touring in my show," she laughed.

Cardona first attracted attention after her second year at Los Angeles City College when she replaced Chita Rivera in Meredith Wilson's "1941." Her potent performance was noticed by impresario Edwin Lester, who then presided over the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera Company. Lester, 94, helped Cardona perfect her craft during the five years she performed with the company.

She has guest-starred on "The Incredible Hulk" with Bill Bixby, "Barney Jones" opposite Buddy Ebsen; "Centennial" opposite Richard Chamberlain; and in "Magnum P.I." with Tom Selleck. Cardona also has worked in television with Bette Davis, Jack Lemmon and James Earl Jones.

The film she remembers as the ultimate experience was the controversial 1965 political documentary "Latino," produced by George Lucas and photographed by Haskell Wexler during five hectic months in Nicaragua.

"The humidity and the bugs were terrible and the poverty was soul-searing," she said.

"At first I was afraid to take the role — the bottom line is whether it's worth your life because everybody was worried that the United States would invade the country."

"Fortunately, I speak Spanish and could talk to the people who seemed completely confused about what was going on. I'm still confused myself, but I don't believe the people hate the United States at all — they just want peace."

Firefighters can do more

Getting the most for our tax dollars is something every citizen expects and the policy of making firefighters double as paramedics meets that goal.

Fourth Ward Alderman Dan Partney and the council's senior member, 1st Ward Alderman Everett Morlen, disagree with the policy. Their argument is that the city will wind up with a half-time Fire Department and half-time ambulance service.

Well, hokey.

Without taking a thing away from the Fire Department, the members do have spare time on their hands for such activities as horseshoes and sleeping. Since the Fire Department is not against taking on the added responsibility, it is hard to comprehend that the two aldermen would oppose the rest of the council on this matter.

The idea that adding qualifications to the job descriptions of our city's firefighters will somehow hurt the department is, well, hokey.

Convention center in county

A convention center in Madison County is becoming a reality. Ground was broken July 16 for the Gateway Center, located at Eastport Plaza, Illinois 157 and Interstate 55-70.

The need has been known for years, and there was a golden opportunity in the 1970s when Illinois offered to bankroll the creation of regional meeting centers throughout the state.

One was proposed for the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to serve a wide variety of organizations and programs, but a later 12-member regional commission killed it through feuding over whether it should be built in Edwardsville or Belleville. Neither place obtained a cent but a half-dozen or so centers were constructed elsewhere.

The new center, sponsored by Collinsville, is much smaller in scope but will contain 45,000 square feet on a 17-acre site. Included will be an exposition hall and a wing with meeting rooms. Seating capacity will total 1,200 for banquets and 2,400 for auditorium events.

Scheduled for completion in January 1990, the $5.4 million convention building is being financed by a $2 million state grant and a revenue bond issue bolstered by two Collinsville "hospitality" taxes, 5 percent on hotel and motel rooms and 1 percent on food and beverages. The general area has eight motels with a total of 846 rooms.

The Gateway Center is a welcome addition to Metro East, and a reminder of what might have been.

Tragic death in Metro East

As trustees of the nation's means of talking to itself, it should be important to all citizens that the news profession remain as risk-free as possible.

But this is not a risk-free profession. It can be plain dangerous, as history shows. Elijah Lovejoy, the crusading Alton editor, was killed by a mob in 1837; an investigative reporter was slain by gangsters in Arizona a few years ago; and an Illinois editor-publisher was killed by burial, the victim of a kidnapping scheme a few months ago.

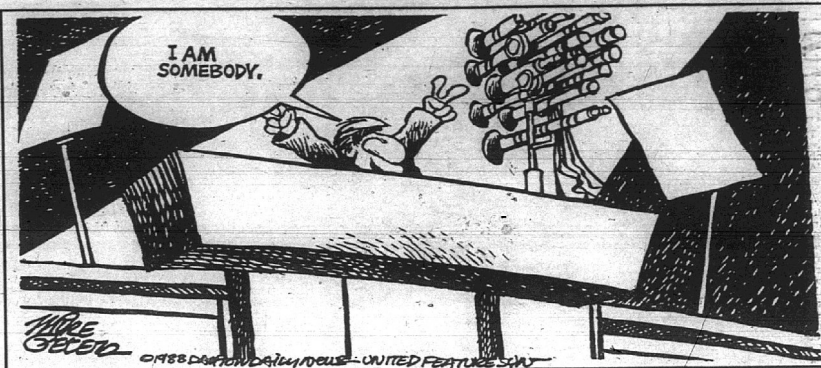

The Press-Record was the target of gangland threats on many occasions and its office was hit by bullets during the era when hoodlums sought to establish a major gambling foothold in the Quad City area.

News correspondents and photographers often have become casualties in battlefield coverage; the most famous war reporter, Ernie Pyle, lost his life near the end of World War II.

All of which led to the death of Audrey Cardenas, newly graduated from a Texas university, who went to Belleville on June 8 for a summer internship as a news reporter. She was last seen June 19, apparently having been slain in Belleville that evening, and her body was found June 26.

Delayed in the mail, a June 14 letter from her to her mother was received last week, describing her first day on the job.

Though the reason for her murder is unknown, the tragedy is nonetheless difficult to accept.

Man in bureaucratic circle

To the editor:

Sometimes government offices and regulations permit people to fall through the cracks and the result is needless human misery.

Forty-two-year-old Tom Hanrahan, who lives in the Chicago suburb of Lindenhurst, is an example. He is married and has four children.

Back in 1979, he worked at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in Illinois, in a cold storage area where anhydrous ammonia fumes were always present.

Before working at Great Lakes, Hanrahan was the picture of health. Now he has chest pains, shortness of breath, insomnia, weakness, severe impairments in attention and concentration, memory loss and other symptoms.

He has not been able to work for eight years.

Hanrahan — and his statement is backed by five co-workers — says he was exposed to dangerous amounts of anhydrous ammonia during a five-month period in 1979, including one major leak.

His co-workers say the refrigeration system included lots of old piping and fittings which leaked ammonia into the building. Mechanical failures and leaks were seals were a constant problem. They also say the ammonia detectors never worked properly.

Both his doctors and government doctors say Hanrahan is suffering from obstructive and restrictive lung disease, although the decision was not unanimous among the government doctors.

His doctor says exposure to ammonia caused permanent pulmonary and neurological damage. But the government has ruled there is no proof that the anhydrous ammonia that Hanrahan inhaled caused his physical disabilities.

To this date, Hanrahan has received no worker compensation benefits. He has been unable to break loose from the bureaucratic circle of the Chicago regional office of Workers' Compensation Programs and the Washington office.

He has been the victim of lost records, separated files and a host of other things frustrating a final decision.

But Hanrahan refuses to give up. These days he takes care of his four children in the family's home while his wife works. He is physically unable to hold a job.

I've been trying to help, but the bogged-down machinery makes it difficult even for a senator to get assistance.

Publishing this and sending it to appropriate officials may help.

Tom Hanrahan worked for the federal government, and by all accounts did good work. Now that he cannot work, he should not be ignored by the government he served.

I'm going to keep fighting for him.

State best route for Bi-State buses

To the editor:

In a Press-Record article it was noted that if Bi-State receives enough response, it may again allow its McKinley Bridge buses to travel State Street. I regularly commute on this line and request that this be done.

I understand that the sole person responsible for the change in route effected on June 6 lives on State Street and complained that buses caused his home to shake and caused pollution.

I admire the gentleman's ability to effect change and respect the fact that by strongly voicing his dissatisfaction he was able to accomplish his goal of rerouting Bi-State buses from State Street to Madison Avenue.

However, in my opinion an unsafe condition for commuters, route residents or Bi-State employees — should be the sole criteria used in changing an existing route.

One elderly resident stressed to me that she knew several contemporaries who initially moved into that area because of easy bus accessibility and were now forced to walk an additional two blocks, causing hardship to them.

Because Bi-State is a public company, it should strive to serve the majority of our community and not bend to the whim of a few.

Adolf Hitler was voman?

As readers, you should be able to distinguish credible newspapers from the tabloids found in grocery stores.

Those tabs enjoy popularity because some readers believe the content of articles displaying such lurid headlines as these from the July 26 edition of the Weekly World News: "Hitler was a woman," "Atlantis rising from the sea," "Mystery of the Loch Ness monster solved," "Space aliens kidnap a herd of elephants," and "I saw a virgin sacrificed in the name of Satan."

The article on Hitler is accompanied by an artist's ludicrous rendering of Hitler in drag, sporting his odd mustache, and wearing a knee-length dress and high heels. Quoted in the article is a supposed East German doctor, a Claus Nicholas Von Stempfer of Wittenberg.

If the stories in the News were handled by most newspapers, readers could check the stories by calling the people in them. It's doubtful anyone would try to call East German directory assistance to locate Von Stempfer, but if you could, you'd want to substantiate his information.

First, Von Stempfer's existence and credentials would have to be proved. In turn, he would have to prove how he reached his dramatic conclusion.

The article says his revelation is based on diaries recorded by Rudolf Hess, a Nazi war criminal. How could Von Stempfer obtain such historically significant information without world-wide media attention and, further, what credible historical society would support the diaries?

Another question readers should ask is how could Hitler hide being a woman since he served as a corporal in the German Army in World War I, was wounded and spent time in a hospital, was arrested and spent time in jail — in each case, he was not yet a dictator capable of his going, he was just another person whose sex would have been exposed in more ways than one.

Grocery store tabloids contain many interesting stories, but readers should be skeptical, always questioning what they're reading and judging whether it's important that the content may contain more fiction than fact.

Would Thompson be a good pick for vice president?

Illinois Gov. Jim Thompson has been mentioned as one of the leading contenders as George Bush's running mate in the November general election. Do you think Thompson would make a good vice president?

Bob Mathenia, Granite City

"No sir, I don't. He hasn't taken care of the people of Illinois. I think he'd be bad for the country."

Bonnie Waggoner, Pontoon Beach

"I would say no. He's been wanting to raise taxes for education. I thought the lottery was suppose to fund the schools. We pay too many taxes already. I don't think he would (make a good vice president)."

Ralph Puhse, Granite City

"I hope he's not selected. I'm a Democrat and he's Republican, and I don't think he's done a very good job with the state. I'm afraid to take a chance on him."

Mendoza: Open women not prepared

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

Emotionally, Ruben Mendoza came away from the Granite City State Games disappointed. Materially, he came away without a medal.

Of course, the second part explains the first part. The empty feeling and the empty spot in the medal drawer could be attributed to any number of things. But Mendoza places the blame for why the Southern Region's Open Women's soccer team came away medal-less on one person in particular.

"We had a team good enough to go all the way, but maybe it was the coach's fault," he said. "I think I took it lightly this year. I didn't start preparing for the Games as early as I have before. I just thought we would be stronger and would have an easier time."

Mendoza had said before the Games his team would be missing some key players. The absence of Granite City's Angie Moore and Chris Kessler, and Collinsville's Mary Pat Leach did hurt.

"It wasn't just those three," Mendoza said. "There were some other players we could have used. We really missed Maria Para. She was a very steady back for us the last two years. We only had four backs and that was where we needed help. But Maria was in the Philippines this month."

And some of the regulars didn't show the dedication they have in the past. Not all of them. Some of the new girls in particular did a very good job.

day and West Central on Thursday, each by 2-0 scores, and tying Pioneer 1-1 on Friday.

North Shore's roster was a smorgasbord of the finest players from the traditionally strong northern Chicago suburbs like Winnetka, Evanston, Palatine and Waukegan. Included in their lineup was Vince Jajuga, rated by Illinois coaches last year as the state's top prep player.

The Southern boys club was a question mark. Depth appeared to be a problem, particularly defensively. And there were no players from the state champion Granite City Warriors team, a situation that raised some eyebrows. None of the Warriors went out for the team.

"We started practices June 4 and we chose the best talent we had available," Aleman said. "It doesn't make any difference what school you're from."

Eight Kahoks made the 16-player roster, followed by six from Belleville East, Keith Endrjatis from Belleville West and Simon Weiss from Highland. Aleman and co-coach Charles Tuna Suarez, the JV coach at Collinsville, gave all 16 ample playing time and split the time served between goalkeepers Mike Girard of East and Dustin Grove of Collinsville.

Grove, who will be a senior this fall, gained the shutout Saturday with an impressive effort. Grove made several difficult saves, directed traffic well and never fell out of position against an explosive North Shore team that had guns like Jajuga, among others.

"It was intense, but it wasn't me. It was the whole team," Grove said. "As far as (Jajuga) I tried not to think about him. If you concentrate on one guy, that means you're not watching someone else. Today I just talked a lot and got a feel for the game. Nothing key, really."

Following 65 minutes of scoreless yet active play, Southern gained an edge in the final quarter and nearly went up 1-0 when Matt Docter of Collinsville boomed a 15-yard shot through traffic that banged hard off the North Shore goalkeeper. Minutes later, Reiniger and Grimming

But there was just a letdown in preparation on our part.

Things seemed to be going quite well through Friday morning. The Colonels opened on Thursday with a 5-1 win over Wilcox. Terry Schuler of Granite City had two goals, while Granite City's Michelle Williamson and Desanna Fancher scored once each. Angela Millatti had the other goal.

But Belleville's Laura Whetstone, the anchor in goal for Mendoza in each of the five years at the Games, injured her ankle in the first game. She was taken by Granite City's Diane Takmajian, who picked up a shutout on Friday morning, 2-0 over Windy City. Schuler and Fancher scored for the Colonels in that game.

"We were doing very well up to that time," Mendoza said.

But things turned sour in a 3-1 loss to North Shore in the final game of the round-robin on Friday evening. Granite City's Laura James scored on a penalty kick in the third quarter for a 1-1 tie. But Whetstone was injured again when she came out to stop a breakaway later in the quarter. Takmajian finished that game and played the bronze medal game as well.

"She got hit pretty good and had to wear a neck brace," Mendoza said of Whetstone. "Then there was a lot of kicking and blocking for the loose ball and one of our players touched it with her hands. They scored again on a late breakaway."

That sent the Colonels into the bronze medal game on Saturday cashied in.

"We were just trying to send it through all day," Grimming said. "Joey's a real good player and tough to play against. It's nice to play on the same team with him."

"We had a lot of speed up front, but that grass was so thick that the ball would just stop," Reiniger said. "So we wanted to send it in the air, just your basics. Todd took that guy on and had a wide-open goal."

The goal turned an already heated match up a couple of degrees, and frustration peaked minutes later when North Shore's Chris Iantoni nudged the crossbar with his 30-yard free kick. In the final minutes of play both teams were issued yellow cards, and North Shore's Dan Segel was slapped with a red card ejection for a flagrant tackle.

A brief scrap broke out after the final whistle, but it didn't take the Southern Region long to turn its anger into a party, which included dumping the Gatorade jug over Aleman's head. Unlike the powerful New York Giants who made that practice popular, though, the scholastic boys team behaved as an underdog that succeeded.

"Where we stood out was defensively, but the entire team just came together," Aleman said. "And that was because of their attitude."

against West Central. Schuler got her fourth goal of the Games to tie the game early in the second half, but the Capitals scored late in the third quarter. "We put the pressure on for most of the second half, but we couldn't break through," Mendoza said.

"We lacked bench strength this year. The other teams in the state are getting stronger, but I thought we still could have won with what we had. I don't like to lose. We'll start working a little earlier next year and hopefully we'll have all the key players we need."

"It's tough when you walk 10 like we did. And we made two big errors in the eighth. I knew, they would bring Hendrickson in to nail it down. I think they can do quite well in the Fifth Division."

The Triplets dodged a potential backbreaker in the first inning. They loaded the bases with no outs against lefty Brad Clossen. But John Moad hit into a 1-2-3 double play on a 3-2 pitch and Craig Dippel flew out on the first pitch. The Triplets wound up leaving 13 men on base, but Smithton left 11 itself.

Smithton got two in the first as Moll and Derrick Roney delivered scratch RBI hits. But Kurt Hodges tied the game with a two-run single in the second.

"This has been a team effort all the way," said Triplet coach Woody Moad. "Everybody pitched in. Kurt Hodges drove in two big runs, and that's something I'll remember."

Smithton took a 4-2 lead in the fourth on Moll's two-run double. The Triplets got one back in the fifth when Clossen walked three and hit one batter after retiring the first two. Hendrickson got the RBI.

"We had a two or three innings where we got the first two outs and then got in trouble," McGuire said.

It happened again in the sixth. John VanBuskirk singled with two outs and Todd Hinterser walked. Moad then doubled into the right-field corner to score both runners for a 5-4 lead.

"It's just like last year again when I led the team in doubles," said Moad. "I don't know what happened to me in high school this year (when he had only five extra-base hits)." But Smithton took the lead again in its sixth. Mueh delivered the go-ahead run with an infield out and Craig Harbaugh added to Smithton's large collection of scratch hits with a two-out infield single off Lignoul to make it 7-5.

Burton, Hendrickson and Wallace singled to start the eighth and it was 7-6. The Triplets had runners at second and third with no outs and the bases loaded with one out, but VanBuskirk popped out and Hinterser flew out.

John Garland singled to start the seventh for Smithton. Then Lignoul's pickoff attempt got away from Burton. But Burton recovered and threw across the diamond to third where Moad tagged Garland on the spikes as he slid by. That was Smithton's last scoring threat as the Triplets put their winning rally together in the eighth.

"It's a good feeling," said Burnett. "We've rode the roller-coaster a little this year. But this isn't for me or Tommy or Woody. It's for the kids. They worked hard and made it happen."

NOTES: Hendrickson (8-1, 0.57 ERA) and Mike Krausz (7-1, 1.70 ERA) will be ready to pitch today. Marion, the District 25 champion, is 17-11. If the Triplets win the 12:30 game, they will play Harrisburg (24-11) at 7:30 tonight. If they lose the first game, they will play the loser of Olney or Centralia vs. DuQuoin at 4 p.m. tomorrow. A team will have to win four — and possibly five — games to win the tournament. Take Interstate 64 to Illinois 127 at Nashville and head south to DuQuoin.

Alton hosts state slow pitch tourney

Gordon Moore Park in Alton will host the state Men's Slow Pitch Tournament this weekend and next.

Approximately 55 top teams have committed to appear in the ASA tournament, with approximately 3,000 persons coming into the area. Opening ceremonies will be Friday at 7 p.m. State Rep. Jim McPike will throw out the first pitch after skydivers from Sparta drop the game ball down. Other activities included Fire & Drum Corps and a visit from Fredbird on Saturday from 5 to 5:30 p.m.

The tournament will run July 29-31 and conclude Aug. 6-7.

Dalton Soccer Club has tryouts

The Dalton Soccer Club will hold tryouts for girls born in 1973.

The tryouts will be at 5 p.m. on July 30-31 at Hazelwood

Junior High School on Shackelford and Humes roads in St. Louis.

Nobles serving a noble purpose

More than most cities, Granite City is blessed with many persons whose leadership skills have been honed to perfection by service as officers of a Shrine temple.

They range from the first local potentate, Roy Wilmzig (in 1967), to the reigning Almad potentate, Irvin V. Slate Jr. Although Slate has moved from Granite City, his law office remains here.

Others who have served as potentates are Jack Dempsey, Dick Ervay, Ron Adams and Randy Burton. Orville Hommert, the current chief rabban, will be the 1989 potentate. Also climbing the same 11-run is Kelly Hogan, Oriental guide.

AINAD SHRINERS, along with Shriners everywhere, tell the public, "If you know of a crippled child or burned child, we would be able to help." Free care is provided at hospitals and centers across North America.

Shriners hospitals and burns institutes accept and treat any child up to the age of 18 if the youngster can be helped and treatment at another facility would place a financial burden on the family.

The toll-free telephone number for admission information is 1-800-237-5055.

AS AMERICAN as the baseball Cardinals, hot dogs and apple pie, the Shrine was tied to an Arabic theme by its founders, Billy Florence, an actor, and William Fleming, a physician.

It's known as the Ancient Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. To help make the fraternity colorful and exciting, the two founders designed the rituals, emblems and costumes.

Headquartered in Tampa, Fla., the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children now operate burns centers in Cincinnati, Boston and Galveston, Texas, and hospitals in St. Louis, Chicago, Tampa, Honolulu, Houston, Los Angeles, Mexico City, Minneapolis, Montreal, Philadelphia, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Erie, Pa., Greenville, S.C., Lexington, Ky., Portland, Ore., Shreveport, La., Spokane, Wash. and Springfield, Mass.

AS WE WERE SAYING last Thursday before being interrupted by an unexpected lack of space, there have been tough times in the coal industry. Many mines in the bluffs area of Metro East have been abandoned.

Regional Roundup

By Bill Winter

UNLIKE WESTERN coal, Illinois coal has 3 to 5 percent sulfur. Sulfur and nitrogen-based chemicals combine to cause the kind of rain that harms lakes and wilderness areas far from midwestern smokestacks.

Acid rain has become a topic of dispute between Canada and the United States, and between eastern and midwestern states. Lowell Miller, an Energy Department deputy secretary, said that with new technologies in place, coal emissions would become much cleaner.

UTILITIES using coal reduce pollution with the aid of scrubbers but would welcome cleaner coal, Miller said, adding that greater coal use would reduce reliance on foreign oil and ease the import imbalance.

Under the Clean Coal Technology Program, the department would pay up to 50 percent of the cost to build pilot "demonstration models."

Fifty-four applicants from 20 states have filed proposals for funding.

IF ENERGY OFFICIALS could fund at $4, the cost would total $5.3 billion.

However, the department can spend no more than $725 million this year on clean-coal matching funds, Miller said.

Decisions are expected to be made by November.

CONGRESS BEGAN the program with a $400 million outlay. A year later, Pres. Ronald Reagan, responding to Canadian and domestic pressure, expanded the program into a five-year, $2.5 billion effort.

Federal energy officials and state coal officials believe the Venice project would make Illinois coal more marketable once consumers could burn it without fear of violating acid rain and air standards.

THE FEDERAL PROGRAM for clean coal "is the answer down the road to our salvation," said Taylor Penson, vice president of the Illinois Coal Association.

"The Illinois coal industry is going through difficult times. The record is very clear on that."

Last year, Illinois produced 60.7 million tons of coal.

THIS STATE ranked fifth behind Kentucky (150 million), Wyoming (138.3 million), West Virginia (132.1 million) and Pennsylvania (88.7 million).

Illinois' 1987 coal production was a three-million-ton drop from the previous year.

The number of coal industry jobs decreased from 18,400 in 1979 to 12,100 in 1987, a 34.2 percent decline, according to Illinois Department of Mining and Minerals statistics.

Miller summarized, "What we are trying to do is provide the incentive to participate, so the private sector can afford to participate. We are cutting their costs in half."

Someone in your family graduating? Receiving a degree? Those accomplishments should be publicized in the Press-Record/Journal. Call us at 877-7700.

The Home Front

By ROD FLOOD

No room in your house for a den or sitting room? Steal a corner of your bedroom for a cozy chair and ottoman with a dinged padding light.

Inexpensive way to get rid of mildew is with your own bleach solution. One part fresh bleach, three parts water. Scrub on, let dry, then rinse. But mildew will return unless ventilation is improved.

Is it difficult to sleep products for the house? Not necessarily. Brain dots can easily identify the capacity of pots, pans and storage containers for the blind. And, a hearing light for the hearing impaired can be triggered by the same circuitry which sounds an oven's buzzer.

Garden hose tangled underfoot? Coil it up in a terra cotta tube pipe, one end attached to the faucet, the other to the sprayer or sprinkler.

Smart seniors are retiring ON their homes, not IN them. Wise move is to sell the big house, move into a smaller property, and invest the difference for income. Best of all, part of the profit may be tax exempt.

Smart homebuyers of any age get the house hunting trip they need from the real estate pros at

State news

Japanese company to locate in state

The Unyite Fastener Manufacturing Co. Ltd. of Japan will locate its first U.S. manufacturing plant in Peru, Ill., creating 80 jobs within two years, Gov. James Thompson announced.

"Unyite... is one of Japan's top industrial fastener (nuts and bolts) manufacturers," Jay R. Hedges, director of the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, said.

"Attracting this company and its jobs to the Illinois Valley is further evidence of Illinois' reputation for quality and innovation."

Funds to come sooner to school districts

Gov. James Thompson has authorized an advance of general state aid payments to all school districts throughout the state to improve their cash flow.

The state will make a payment in August that otherwise would have been made in September. This is the third year that Thompson has authorized such action. The change involves about $152.1 million.

Drought damage prompts state request

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng has been requested by Gov. James Thompson to issue a declaration of emergency for Illinois due to the recent drought to qualify farmers and rural areas for assistance through the Farmers' Home Administration.

"Illinois has already been declared an agricultural disaster for the purpose of releasing set-aside and Conservation Reserve Program acres to supplement livestock forage supplies. But the extensive nature of the drought has made the feed value of these acres minimal," Thompson said.

An emergency declaration would allow farmers to apply for emergency loans of up to $500,000 at 4.5 percent interest. To be eligible, farmers would have to show they had suffered a 30 percent loss of production and demonstrate that they would be unable to get credit elsewhere.

'The Lincoln Legals' director appointed

Dr. Cullen Davis, nationally known scholar and member of the history department of Sangamon State University, has been appointed project director for the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency's "Lincoln Legals" project.

The project will be a major analysis of Abraham Lincoln's entire legal career. Davis will be responsible for the preparation of a comprehensive multi-volume indexed edition of the more than 3,000 legal cases Lincoln tried from 1836 to 1861, as well as the 75,000 documents relating to them.
